IN anything==it's team work that counts.
No matter how strong the individual, he becomes more powerful with team co-operation == team work.

Have you joined the Rockland home town team ?
Are you making your co-citizens realize your desire to assist them commercially and socially? Are you helping them to feel the advantages of living in this good city of ours? Are you extending a cordial heart and hand?

If you do--they will pass the good word along--it becomes an endless chain. The team work is strong and thus will attract others--who in turn will lend their hands, talents, resources and energies to mutual civic progress.

Now is a good time at the beginning of 1924, to "join up"--the only initiation fee is a resolve to do your part--and the dues come back to you in personal dividends.

THE UNDERSIGNED BELIEVE IN FOSTERING THE HOME TOWN TEAM SPIRIT FOR ROCKLAND. ANYTHING OUR PEOPLE WANT THEY CAN HAVE BY PULLING TOGETHER.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Bible thoughts memorized will prove a precious heritage in after years.
A MAN THAT HATH FRIENDS must show himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother.—Proverbs 18:24.

"KEEP COOLIDGE"

In this issue The Courier-Gazette inaugurates in association with a group of local business houses a campaign of intensive publicity, directed toward the strengthening of a spirit of community team work, with the wholesome design of securing to Rockland the fullest possible measure of prosperity. The success that comes to a business corporation, or to any enterprise through the wise and close cooperation of every person connected with it, may be as well achieved by any city, town or village whose citizens bring themselves into harmony and work for a common purpose. Rockland has already taken a distinctive forward step through the formation of its Chamber of Commerce. There are many other channels in which public spirit may become intelligently directed, fostering consistently a get-together spirit which must result highly to the general welfare. It is with this design that the publicity alluded to is put into action.

That extraordinary American, Benjamin Franklin, spent much time in England from 1757 to 1762, representing the American Colonies. While there he placed one hundred pounds in the hands of members of the Society of Friends as a trust, to be invested, with accumulations, for not less than 150 years. Thereafter, at the discretion of the trustees, awards were to be made from time to time for the most valuable contribution to science, either manuscript or published, on the subject of cures, but particularly in relation to surgery, the nervous system and "mind treating" in the recovery and preservation of health. Announcement is now made of the first awards from this fund. To Fusakichi Omori of Tokio, unpublished treatise, "The Rotary Knife in Surgery," five hundred pounds and publication of treatise. To Charles P. Steinmetz of Schenectady, privately published treatise, "The Nervous System as a Conductor of Electrical Energy," one thousand pounds and republication of treatise. To Pearson W. Banning of Los Angeles, published work, "Mental and Spiritual Healing: All Schools and Methods; a Text Book for Physicians and Metaphysicians," two thousand five hundred pounds. Perhaps some clever reader of The Courier-Gazette would like to add to the interest of the above announcement by figuring the amount that Franklin's gift had attained in the period named, at five per cent interest, compounded annually. We will be glad to print his conclusions.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

George R. Fuller of Southwest Harbor announces that he will be a candidate in the June primaries for the Republican nomination for Representative to the Legislature from the classed towns of Mount Desert, Tremont, Southwest Harbor, Lamoine, Cranberry Isles, Swan's Island and Long Island.

Congressman White in Lewiston on personal business for a few days will announce his future political intentions within a few days of his return to Washington. He is, of course, definitely out of consideration for governor, having made that decision two weeks ago, but whether he will be a candidate for re-election to Congress has not been settled in his own mind. If Congressman White should decide not to run again, he will announce it in time to permit candidates to circulate nomination papers and to make a campaign in the primary. A re-appointment bill is expected to be passed by the House at this session of Congress. When the bill is finally passed, Mrs. White believes it certain that Maine will lose one member.

Arthur W. Patterson of Castine, a well known attorney and writer will be a candidate at the June primaries for nomination as representative from the Castine, Penobscot, Brooksville, Hancock counties. He has served as chairman of the Board of Selectmen of Castine for several years.

Mrs. Helen Astor, wife of Vincent Astor, is an aspirant for the position of alternate delegate from the 26th congressional district of New York to the Republican national convention. Her candidacy will go before Republican voters of Orange, Putnam and Dutchess counties at the April primaries. The late Colonel John Jacob Astor, her father-in-law, was a delegate from a New York City district in 1888.

FARRINGTON PLEASED

Trips Through Somerset and Androscoggin Counties Give Him Much Cheer.

Back from a trip through Somerset and Androscoggin counties, Hon. Frank G. Farrington, Republican candidate for governor declared that the friendliness manifested toward him in every place visited was very gratifying and bears out his confident belief that he will win in the June primary. "I will carry Somerset county. Not only was there apparent a very friendly feeling toward me but I also learned that practically all the strength which Mayor Day had up there had come to me. In that connection, I might say that this is true of Piscataquis and Penobscot counties, according to the information which comes to me from those sections. I have not been in either of those counties, but I shall, of course, go there very shortly. Friends of mine who have just returned from those sections tell me that I have a big following and that it is constantly increasing; they tell me that the Day strength has come to me in both Penobscot and Piscataquis. These statements are corroborated by letters which my friends in those counties have written me. You can understand why I say that I have every reason to be pleased with the outlook through those three adjoining counties."

Senator Farrington also stated that his candidacy was meeting with a fine response throughout Androscoggin, Washington and Hancock counties. He said that his daily mail from those districts was constantly growing and the active Republicans there were assuring him of their hearty, earnest effort from now until the primary.

Thursday was passed in Lewiston and Auburn where he met some of the leaders of the party and discussed with them his campaign plans. He was unable to meet all and will make another visit to these two cities.

A JEALOUS MAN'S ACT

Brunon Perlupo, Barber, Throws Acid In Face of Restaurant Waitress, Who Will Be Disfigured For Life—Perlupo Unable To Get Heavy Bail.

Enraged because she had commanded him to pay her no further attention, Brunon Perlupo, barber, walked into the Oriental restaurant Thursday afternoon, calmly filled a tumbler with acid which he had brought in a small phial, and threw the contents into the face of Mrs. Lillian Risteen, a waitress with whom he had been keeping company.

Crazed with pain the young woman ran into the street, shrieking, and before a doctor could arrive on the scene was taken to Silsby Hospital in George B. Wood's motor car. She passed a fairly comfortable night, but the nature of injuries caused by sulphuric or nitric acid is such that the outcome cannot be determined until a week or 10 days has elapsed. This, according to the testimony of Dr. R. J. Wasgatt, yesterday in Rockland Municipal Court when "probable cause" was found, and Perlupo was held to await the action of the term of Knox County Supreme Court which convenes April 1.

Trouble between Perlupo and Mrs. Risteen had been reaching a climax for some days. Last Sunday there was a "spat" in the course of which Perlupo is alleged to have slapped the young woman's face. This action resulted in a lawyer's letter being sent to Perlupo's employer Liberale Paladino, asking that the young man be cautioned against further demonstration.

The only effect seems to have been that Perlupo became even more desperate. Shortly after noon Thursday, the young man had a controversy with Sheriff Thurston, and was told by that official that there would be serious consequences if he did not leave the woman alone.

By way of reply Perlupo turned on his heel, and apparently went directly to the Oriental restaurant.

Mrs. Esther Crockett, another waitress, was at the counter when he entered, and Perlupo asked her to wait on him. "I saw that he appeared angry," Mrs. Crockett told a Courier-Gazette reporter a few moments after the assault had been committed. "He took a glass from the shelf, and poured something into it from a small bottle. It looked like water, and when he finished the glass must have been nearly full."

Mrs. Crockett then went into the kitchen and was returning behind Mrs. Risteen when Perlupo appeared between the swinging doors and threw the contents of the glass into Mrs. Risteen's face. He made some remarks as he did so, but Mrs. Crockett did not understand his words. A few splatters of the acid struck Mrs. Crockett in the face, causing her considerable pain, and she knew then that it was something more serious than hot water or tea which he had thrown. Mrs. Risteen exclaimed "Oh Tony!" and ran through the dining room into the street, shrieking. Among those in the dining room at the moment was Postmaster G. Herbert Blithen. Mrs. Crockett called for him to stop Perlupo, who seemed on the point of leaving. Mr. Blithen prevented the young man's exit, and put in a call for the police, who were quickly at the restaurant.

Postmaster Blithen testified yesterday that he saw Perlupo enter the restaurant and sit at the counter. He sat there a while and went toward the kitchen. Presently the girls came through the kitchen doors and the Postmaster noticed that Mrs. Risteen's waist was wet and discolored. He heard somebody say that something had been thrown at her. He assumed that it was coffee or tea, and catching a glimpse of Mrs. Risteen's face as she passed through the dining room thought it must have been coffee. He prevented Perlupo from leaving when it appeared that there had been some trouble.

Others who were in the dining room at the time of the affair were Dr. Walter P. Conley and E. H. Crie, and both were summoned as witnesses. They did not testify yesterday, however.

Mrs. Risteen was assisted into Mr. Wood's car by J. Lester Sherman, who subsequently found that his own hands had been burned by contact with the woman's dress.

Marshal Gilchrist testified that the bottle which had contained the acid was taken from the prisoner's person and that the glass which Perlupo is alleged to have used was brought to the station by S. A. Adams.

"You are formerly a druggist," said Judge Miller, "what kind of acid do you call it?"

Marshal Gilchrist declined to pose as an expert, but contented himself with the opinion that it was either sulphuric or nitric acid.

"Was it any worse than some of the stuff you take away from other prisoners?" asked Philip Howard, who appeared as counsel for Perlupo.

"Well, I guess I had rather take my chances with the liquor," replied the marshal; "it doesn't smart quite as much as acid."

Dr. Wasgatt testified that nearly all of Mrs. Risteen's face was covered with the acid, particularly the right side. Acid was about evenly distributed over the shoulders and breast and on both arms and hands. The corner of the right eye is burned, but the physician said it was impossible to tell at this time how much impairment has been done to the sight. Lips, nose and chin are burned, but the left cheek and left eye escaped. Inflammation of the kidneys might result from the injuries.

If the woman lives she will be badly disfigured," testified Dr. Wasgatt. "There is an even chance of recovery."

Perlupo was born in Palermo, Sicily, 24 years ago, and has been in this country nine years. He first located in Boston where he worked at barbering and attended night school. In 1918 he came to Rockland but stayed only a few months before going to Union where he worked a year. He next went to Bucksport where he attended East Maine Conference Seminary, graduating in 1920. That summer he was employed as drug clerk at W. A. Walker's drug store in Castine. He spent the fall in Boston and New York and then returned to Rockland, with the intention of working at his trade. In Camden he made the acquaintance of Mrs. Risteen, then a single woman by the name of Lillian Young. Miss Young formerly resided in Vinalhaven, but is a native of Matineus and a daughter of David B. Young.

The young woman was twice married, her first husband being a man named Carlson, with whom she is said to have lived but one day. Her second husband was Earl Risteen. They were separated by divorce in September, 1923.

Perlupo says that he introduced the young woman as his wife in Camden, and that she was supposed to occupy that relation to him in Boston and other places they visited. From July to November in 1923 they made their home in Vinalhaven. Perlupo returned to Rockland during the holiday season and entered the employ of Liberale Paladino.

He stated yesterday that Mrs. Risteen had promised repeatedly to marry him, and that he had spent more than $500 on her.

Prior to Thursday's occurrence the prisoner claims to have been five days without sleep, and strung to the highest nervous tension. He told his employer Wednesday that he was unable to work, and Mr. Paladino told him to see a doctor and take a rest. He did consult Dr. Harvey Thursday forenoon. What followed after he went to the Oriental restaurant is a blank to him he claims, and his first knowledge of the situation was when he found himself in the police patrol being conveyed to the station. He said that his temples felt cold and that there was a throbbing in his head as if it were being struck with a hammer.

Those who watched him closely in Municipal Court yesterday saw his head drop repeatedly to his chest, as though he were about to doze. "Can this man speak English?" asked Judge Miller, before the trial began. The question was the natural one, but was somewhat ironical in this particular case.

Perlupo speaks five languages. Mrs. Risteen's story is of course not obtainable at this time.

LOBSTERS AND GOLF BALLS

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—On account of the open winter the lobsters around York Beach appear to be showing their sporting spirit. When Mr. Kimball, at the Nubble Light, was hauling in one of his lobster pots, much to his surprise he found a golf ball in it. Evidently the lobsters had been playing the game. Can the lobsters in Rockland harbor beat this?

Nubble Light, Jan. 31.

"THIRTEEN" PRESIDENTS

The most striking coincidence in connection with the Presidents of the United States is shown by the chief executives furnished by the State of Tennessee—Andrew Jackson, Andrew Johnson and James Knox Polk; all were Democrats and each had 13 letters in his full name. Four other Presidents had 13 letters in their names—Zachary Taylor, James Buchanan, Ulysses S. Grant and Woodrow Wilson.

THE CITY ELECTION

Some Reflections Indulged In By a Former Rockland Mayor.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

A few lines as to the new city charter which becomes operative under the next municipal administration. Whether it offers a better plan than the old for conducting the city's business will depend to a great extent on the public. It is neither self-enforcing nor fool proof but is a human contrivance with an average number of defects. It can easily be changed by the people and until this is done it will require some liberal construction.

Under it as under any such charter the people will have in the long run just the kind of government that they want and deserve. Administrations will continue to be strong or weak, effective or futile, successful or failures, precisely according to the patriotism and wisdom of the people who elect them. For there is no form of representative government that will relieve home school and the church of their responsibility to prepare men for citizenship. And this responsibility is not met by simply being carted to the polls on election day and falling for the ancient plea that a vote for alderman or mayor is a vote for President, not yet nominated.

Anyone who can qualify as a voter ought to be able to cast an intelligent ballot without impairing his ability to repeat the process nine months later in another election.

How and to what extent the women will assume the duty imposed upon them by the franchise will determine the general trend of political and civic affairs. If they are unwilling to acquire a just knowledge of the questions upon which they are called to pronounce, campaigns will continue to be rent and often decided by emotional floundering and bunk. And if they cannot sense the compelling necessity to vote, it will be easy at times for the selfish to rule, and for vice to flourish with seeming approval under the protecting cloak of fake reform. Barnum's estimate would be conservative in the practical operation of modern politics.

Operating under a municipal charter is a business proposition, but this doesn't mean that only fiscal and prudential matters are involved or effected. All the improvements and reforms that are possible under any human form of government are possible of attainment under our charter and the co-ordinating "Constitution" and laws of Maine.

It is doubtful if there will be any party issues in the coming election. Taxes could be reduced and economy practiced without impairing efficiency, but no matter how urgent or popular these questions are at the polls, they receive scant attention in a caucus of either party where candidates chosen in secret have little inclination and no opportunity to announce their stand on public questions.

The successful candidates can only operate within the limitations of the circumstances which they personally. Which has the better conception of the needs of all the people and is better qualified to formulate them into a constructive program and put them into effect?

Mr. and Mrs. Voter—in the little voting booth on election day alone with your ballot and your conscience you can answer this vital question.

Philip Howard.

And you will join the legions who know this new Six, that is built by Hudson, in saying it provides ideal transportation.

It continues the well known Essex quality of economy and reliability. It adds a smoothness of performance which heretofore was exclusively Hudson's. Both cars are alike in all details that count for long satisfactory service at small operating cost.

Steering is like guiding a bicycle. Gears shift easily. Care of the car calls for little more than keeping it lubricated. For the most part that is done with an oil can.

Fuel economy is impressive. Oil consumption is unusually low and tire mileage surprisingly high.

The New Essex is backed by a service policy that keeps maintenance down to the minimum.

Walsh Construction Crew

George Brackett has charge of the trestle crew during the absence of the Big Chief.

The sky line trestle at the Gregory is being repaired by putting in 100 new ties and new timbers underneath.

Repairs on the coal tower wharf finished last Thursday. This wharf has been thoroughly overhauled and 25 new oak piling placed. It is to be plank, so that a fill can be made from the wharf to the stock shed, giving a solid track road from shed to wharf and do away with the trestle.

An addition has been built to rear of store, for an office for the newly installed stock-keeper. The office is equipped with a Dutch door opening into store for receiving requisitions and delivering orders. A new floor has been laid in the stock room.

New windows are being put in the eastern side of the Gregory shed and when the job is completed 19 windows will have been added. The windows give a much superior light to that of the old skylight arrangement hitherto in vogue, and does away with skylight bother and leak hazard.

A new trolley car has been constructed in the electrical repair shop. It is one foot longer than the old car dismantled, and is made of all white oak material, the wheels and the motors being the only used parts in it. It was built under the immediate supervision of Mr. Walsh himself, and is guaranteed for twenty years.

Northend Cooper Shop

The shop is now running on a five-day schedule of 150 barrels per day.

Philip Burns is out on account of teeth and jaw trouble. John Farr is taking his place on the tongue and groove machine.

At a meeting of the shop workmen's committee held January 17, the following recommendations were made: Toe-board for overhead platform; guard for belt on counter shaft of heading machine; that starting box on tongue and groove machine be changed to other side of machine; that set-screw on shaft pulley be sunk; that these recommendations be accomplished by the shop crew. Shop conditions were found to be good. The committee comprises: Harry Post, chairman, Boynton Shady, Percy Hill, Fred Swift.

Gregory

Barge Rockport loaded 1500 masonry and 575 selected last week.

Three crews from the Point and Five-kilns are now working on week about shifts.

Physical examinations for the Gregory section have reached 75 percent and volunteers are still coming forward.

A. S. Leonard retires from the shed crew this week, having taken the position of keeper of the Thomaston almshouse.

Kiln 1 suspended operation last week and No. 8 went after No. 9 started last Thursday, making eight kilns now doing business.

Two carloads of 80-pound steel rails have been received. Heavy steel will be laid from the Park street crossing to Limerock street when weather conditions become favorable.

A rock car with extended footboard to prevent pin from rolling under car body is being tried out. It is known as the Doherty patent, and about everybody has had a chew at whether it will work or not.

One of the recent accomplishments of the shops was the construction of a double runner sled for coasting. Made solid and enduring and of handsome pattern it won the admiration of all. It was constructed under the personal supervision of Foreman Blackington.

A three-train schedule went into effect Tuesday morning, with the following make-up of crews: Northend train, engine 4; Albert E. Clough, conductor, Howard Waltz engineer, Frederick Waltz fireman, William Widdecomb, Walter Davis, Harry Robshaw, brakemen. Quarry train, engine 2; James Doherty conductor, James L. Curtis engineer, Jack Dow fireman, William Creighton, Galen Dow, Carl Rogers, brakemen. BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel.

Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

A PARAMOUNT ISSUE

Kennebec Bridge Proposition Has Sympathy of Waldo and Penobscot.

The Kennebec Bridge Association has elected its officers for the next year and is getting ready to make a real noise in the legislative halls and to show the lawmakers that there is power behind their movement to obtain a bridge across the Kennebec river at Bath.

It is proposed to have a director in each city and town in Lincoln, Knox and Sagadahoc counties and to organize thoroughly.

The people of the three counties mentioned are very deeply interested in the bridge proposal and they have the sympathy of many Waldo and Penobscot county people in their fight.

They have a righteous cause and all the argument is on their side. The only argument to be advanced in opposition is that of expense and with large State expenditures in other sections there is no reason why the people of Knox, Lincoln and Sagadahoc should not receive their share, although as a matter of fact the benefit of the building of the bridge by no means would be confined to the counties named but would be of advantage to all who are using the highways of the State.

The bridge project comes first today in the minds of the people of the suffering counties and all candidates for office asking their votes are first asked how they stand on the construction of the bridge. An unsympathetic answer will be reflected in the votes when they are cast.

With a good cause the bridge supporters are perfecting their organization and it is a wise step. They do not intend that they shall be caught as at the last session when several bridge bills were placed before the lawmakers who had the excuse of divided opinion for their failure to take action for the construction of the bridge.—Bangor Commercial.

"THE BEST STARKS"

Mrs. Alice Thurston of Union Sends Banner Shipment—A Buyer's Comment.

"The best car of Starks ever shipped from the State of Maine" was the comment of New York city apple men on the fruit grown by Mrs. Alice Thurston of Union, Maine. These apples were packed and shipped by E. C. Magee of New York, who has been in Maine since last September shipping apples. Mr. Magee is well known in the apple sections of the State. He is connected with J. W. Pfeiffer, one of the most highly-regarded apple growers in the Metropolis.

The above clipping from the Maine Farmer is called to our attention by a subscriber who is always proud to see Union at the front.

Attention is also directed to it by Mr. Magee.

During the week Mr. Magee spent two days on the Boston market among the apple men. From there he visited Providence, Hartford, New London, and Bridgeport, Conn. and Newark, N. J. and is now at his place of business in New York City. Speaking of the apple market, he says: "New York seems to be holding her own better than any place I visited, but that is not saying much. United States and Canada are holding at the present time 5,600,000 barrels of apples more than at this time last year. Maine alone is holding 78,104 barrels against 31,167 last year, which makes 46,937 more barrels than last year."

WARREN

James T. Cates was the guest of his brother John on Wednesday.

Chester Spear and Floyd Castner were callers on friends in Camden Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Booth returned to their home in Waldoboro Wednesday afternoon.

Albert Penobscot, who has been confined to the home by illness the past month is once more able to be out.

The weavers who have been out on a week's vacation resume work Monday morning.

Mrs. William Lawry was the guest of her brother Edwin Copeland of North Warren on Wednesday. Mr. Crawford is slowly improving from his recent illness.

Dana Smith, Jr., is confined to his home with chicken pox.

Benjamin Harding has been confined to the house with a gripe cold.

The Pleasantville school Miss Shirley Castner, teacher, is now closed on account of prevalent illness.

Friends of Miss Susie Hahn, who is now visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hahn in Gardiner, united in sending her a postcard shower February first in honor of her birthday.

H. W. Starrett and Lewis Gordon spent Wednesday on Crawford Pond pickering. Their diligent labor was rewarded by enough to fill one spider.

Mrs. Gardiner Winslow, Mrs. Nathaniel Eastman, Miss M. Grace Walker and Miss Winnie Winslow were guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Benner.

Warren change holds an open session following its Tuesday evening meeting at which time the Reading Club will take charge of the program. The public is cordially invited to attend and a special invitation has been extended to the schools.

The name of Mrs. Alfred Teague who was installed as patriotic instructor at the last meeting of the Sons of Veterans was unintentionally omitted from the list of officers previously published.

E. O. Perkins made a 10 pound catch of smelts on the river Thursday. The smelting has been much interrupted by the breaking up of ice in the river this winter. Smelts are now bringing 20 cents per pound.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Teague very pleasantly entertained the Grange Sewing Circle on Wednesday evening. About 40 members and friends were present.

L. A. Boggs of Warren announces the engagement of his daughter Janet to William H. Morrison of Seattle, Wash.

C. Lawrence French of West Warren already has over 100 chickens hatched out with others soon to hatch from the incubator.

Jethro Simmons who for the past months has been employed as night watch at the Seabright mill in Camden, plans to move his household goods to that town.

John Davis has been employed as filling carver the past week at the Seabright mill in Camden.

P. L. Teague has filled the ice house of John Teague, Dana Smith and James T. Robinson the past week.

AMONG THE SCHOOLS

News of the Busy Educational World In and Outside of Knox County.

McLain School

Assembly exercises were held Monday morning. After the devotional exercises led by Clifford Sylvester, 7A gave a fine gymnastic drill.

One hundred eighty-eight children in the city are receiving a half-pint of milk each day. This includes the under weight children of McLain, Purchase, Tyler and Crescent Street schools. Many of the parents prefer to pay for their children's milk.

A gymnastic concert was put on Monday by Mr. Jones, between 8A and 7C, the champion teams of their respective floors. 7C won the contest and are considered champions of McLain. This team is ready to race any other team in the city.

Helen Moulaison has been selected for the new class marshal in Grade 5A.

Grade 8A has selected "Comets" as the name for their basketball team, and Wesley Waggatt is captain.

The History class are much interested in "Up From Slavery" by Booker T. Washington, in connection with their study of the slave question, he being one of the most prominent colored men to gain distinction and improve the condition of his people.

The Friday afternoon spelling contest resulted in a tie between the girls and boys although the latter tried hard to be the winning team.

Grade 8C had another debate Friday. The subject, "Which was the greater man, Columbus or Washington?" The girls chose Washington, the boys Columbus, and the boys won the debate again, this being three in succession.

TA had a socialized history lesson last Friday. Lloyd Clark was the presiding officer. The subject covered the French explorations and the French and Italian Wars.

On Wednesday 7A chose "The Rovers" as the name for their basketball team.

Purchase Street School

In Grade 1 the following children have not been absent or tardy this term: Maurice Daniels, Dorothy Book, Geraldine Metcalf. The children who got star number work papers on Monday are: Harold Kaler, Jennie Long, Earl Withee, Wilford Chapin, Helen Condon.

In Grade 2 Dorothy Dimick, Charles Haver, James Simmons, Hazel Vasso and Geraldine Kirkpatrick have added their names to the Roll of Honor for arithmetic. In a spelling contest in this grade this week Dorothy Harvey was the best speller and Ruth Dorris next.

These in the 5th grade to get the most perfect arithmetic papers for the week were Ralph Post, James Young, Walter Charles and Kenneth Cousins. Dorothy White came back to school Monday after an absence of four weeks. All the pupils enjoyed a spelling match with Kenneth Cousins and James Young as captains. Kenneth's side stood the longest.

In Grade 6, MacNeil Brown has been chosen captain of the basketball team. The girls chose White Star for the name of the team. The penmanship class shows an improvement in work and neatness since the eighth grade have been exchanging papers. Clifford Oliver plays the piano for the gymnasium exercises at school.

Crescent Street School

Those in grade 4 who have received 100% for the past four weeks are Mary Escorsio, Elizabeth Rackliff, Angelo Escorsio and Clarence Wiley. Best arithmetic ranks were received by Elizabeth Rackliff, Doris Blackman, Mary Escorsio, Marion Miller, Ruth Hastings, William Haskell, Everett Allen, Angelo Escorsio. In grades 3 and 4 drawing lesson last month every one received A plus rank.

Grade 3: 100% spelling papers for the past four weeks: Vivian Cousins, Mabel Hall, Freda Seares, Mary Ginn, Dorothy Spofford, Valoria Look, Bernadette Snow, Eugene Staples, Maurice Shepherd and Robert Emery.

Oak Grove

The following children received 100 in spelling for the week: Herbert Hoche, Paisey Ferrero, Freeland Hill, Mulford Simmons, Charlie Ferrero, Charlie Lindsey and Lester Raye. Charles Candage and Lester Raye had the most one hundred papers in Arithmetic.

Worn Out Caring for Children and Housework—See how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"I was in a very nervous and run-down condition while nursing my baby, and hearing of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began taking it. From the second bottle I noticed a big improvement, and I am still taking it. I am not a bit nervous now, and feel like a different person. It is a great medicine for any one in a nervous, run-down condition and I would be glad to give any one advice about taking it. I think there is no better medicine and give you permission to publish this letter."

—Mrs. ANNA SMITH, 541 W. Norwood Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

The important thing about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is that it does help women suffering from the ailments common to their sex.

If you are nervous and run-down and have pains in your lower parts and in your back, remember that the Vegetable Compound has relieved other women having the same symptoms. For sale by druggists everywhere.

ROCKPORT

Mrs. Adella Goding of Hope is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Nellie Wilkins for an indefinite period.

Raymond Philbrook has moved from Rockland to a part of Mrs. Jennie Dunton's house on Spear street.

Fred Stetson is confined to his home on Commercial street by illness.

Mrs. Athella Truher who has been visiting her son, Frederick, in Seneca Falls, N. Y., and her sisters in New York City, sails today on steamship "La Savie" for Havre and from there will go to Paris where she will be the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Kyle. Mrs. Truher's many friends in this vicinity extend best wishes for a pleasant sojourn.

Harold Frederick, the five months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joy Marshall died Tuesday after a brief illness. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Andrew Young of the Baptist church officiating.

The Twentieth Century Club was pleasantly entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alice Gardner.

Mrs. Nancy J. Tribou and Mrs. Annie Deane were calling on friends in Glenview Thursday.

Mrs. Loring Philbrook entertained the "Club Elite" of Rockland very pleasantly Thursday evening at a picnic supper at her home on Commercial street.

At the Methodist church next Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. J. N. Palmer, will take for his subject "Jehovah Reigneth." Sunday School at noon.

Services at the Baptist church Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Preaching by the pastor, "The Rising Tide of Faith." Communion at close of the service. Sunday School meets at noon. At 7 p. m. there will be a union service. The Littlefield Praying Band led by Rev. H. E. White will conduct the service.

WALDOBORO

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Reed of Bath, Mrs. E. R. Hunnewell and Miss Beattie Reed of New York are in town, called by the illness of Mrs. I. H. Reed.

Mrs. J. T. Gay has been the guest of Mrs. E. F. Albee in Walcott for a few days.

Charles Keizer, Woman's Relief Corps will hold a meeting in G. A. R. hall Saturday afternoon.

One of the interesting events to come will be the presentation of the Senior Class play in the Star Theatre, Feb. 8. It is a snappy melodrama, "Four Make Things Hum" and will be presented by the following cast: Captain Braithwaite, John Whitecomb; Captain Little, Howard Kimball; Mr. Green, Fred Keizer; Mr. Smith, Bernard Newbert; Mrs. Smith, Alberta Viles; Mrs. Green, Marion McLain; Fred Dunbar, Hazen Heyer; Hyman Gold, Lois Hagerman; Patricia Little, Arthur Foyler; Helen Braithwaite, Myrtle Simmons. The plot hinges on the proceedings of Patience, who, expelled from school, returns home "to make things hum." The play will be followed by a dance.

It is hoped that the action of the Woman's Club who are giving a "Silver Tea" in the near future for the benefit of the library will be imitated by other organizations. The library is a recognized factor for good in the town, every one is interested in it and it deserves support and encouragement to make it a success.

Mrs. W. H. Crowell possesses a copy of the New York Herald which is of unusual value. The paper is dated April 18, 1865 and with heavy borders of black covers the sad news of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. After perusing several columns to the tragedy the paper also tells of the attempted assassination of Secretary Seward by an unknown man. In speaking of Booth the paper asserts that the dastardly act was planned before the 11th of March but was prevented by one of the accomplices wishing to wait "until Lincoln was heard from." This paper also contains Jeff Davis' last proclamation and the account of the evacuation of the rebel capital of the Danville, Va. Register of April 5. The paper is in a fine state of preservation.

The Woman's Club met at Mrs. Eugenia Wolff's on Tuesday. Members present were Mesdames Meyer, Nesbit, Stahl, Viles, Lovell, Waltz, White, Ashley and Hoxey. Mrs. Stahl's paper "Fishing and Fisher Folk" was both witty and instructive and much enjoyed. The club meets with Mrs. Mayo next week.

ROBBERY IN CAMDEN

Sometime during Thursday night unknown persons jammed the door of the Camden Yacht Building & Railway Co. bent on robbery. The money drawer was forced but found to contain only two cents and a revolver. The revolver was taken. Then the door of the private office was pried open and entrance gained to the safe there, currency being taken to the extent of $100. Manager George H. Thomas had fortunately banked that afternoon, else the loss would have been much greater. He feels that the work was done by an expert for the safe was opened without damage to its mechanism.

MEXICO'S EL DORADO

A State Rich In Metals and Revolutions — Bolshevism
Evident.

Nayarit, mentioned as one of the Mexican west coast states in which there have been revolutionary disturbances, is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, based on a communication to the Society from Herbert Corey.

"The twentieth century has been a bit late in reaching this state of Nayarit, of which Tepic is the capital; but it seemed convincingly here at last," says the bulletin. "The railroad has come, so that one may ride in Pullman cars direct from the northern border; if one prefers the rails to the Old Spanish Road."

From Feudalism to Bolshevism

"Bolshevism" has had its play in Nayarit, Mexico City intervened when a Bolshevik Governor was elected, and ordered the seating of the Conservative candidate in his place.

"There is no richer state in raw materials in the world, perhaps than Nayarit. No one knows how rich it is. In its 10,000 square miles the 170,000 inhabitants can raise any crop desired."

"The farmer has but to vary the elevation to find the proper climate. Limes, lemons, oranges, wheat, corn, beans, bananas, palms, coconuts, cotton, tobacco—the list is endless. There are even two grapevines and an apple tree in Nayarit, which are eminently fruitful. No one seems to know why it has never occurred to any one to plant others."

Gold Bars By Handful

"Nor is irrigation needed, so well balanced is the rainy season in the greater part of the state. In the mountains there are proved mines by the score. One hears of little workings here and there, where two or three men are chipping away at a small vein and pulverizing the ore in an old-fashioned arrastra, in which mules drag heavy weights over a stone floor. Now and then the men come into town with a handful of gold bars."

"The trouble in Nayarit for years was that the state was in the grip of the great landed interests. There are almost no small land holdings and few of the larger ranches were properly worked."

"One great Spanish House and one great German House—the word house is used as more truly descriptive of these organizations than the modern terms of company or firm—dominated the situation. They had the only money to lend in Nayarit."

Men Held as Serfs

"They controlled the market. They ruled the state as a feudal principality. When the Southern Pacific built its lines into Tepic, in 1922, its labor camps were searched twice a week by the majordomos of the great houses."

"This man is ours," the majordomos said. "And this man, and that. What can this man do? He is a carpenter? Very well; we will take him, too."

"The railroad could not fight back. Its best men were sometimes taken in spite of every effort to protect them. Men to whom the road was glad to pay three pesos a day were returned to the houses for a wage of less than a peso. The men dared not resist. The whip has been used not so long ago on recalcitrant peons in Nayarit. The houses had their own way of bringing pressure on the courts."

"The houses have their justification, of course."

"If we do not compel these Indians to work," they say, "they will not. Then no lands are tilled and no mines worked. Therefore we have made them obey."

"Barons" Fought Coming of Railroad

"Until they saw that they could no longer resist the pressure of modernity, the houses fought the coming of the railroad. Competition from outside was unwelcome to them. The nearer one got to the railroad, before it reached Tepic, the less one paid for the sugar made at Tepic and freighted out by mule."

"One understands that a ground fertile for the growth of any unhealthy leprosy had been prepared. Even after the revolution came and peons were presumably free, they were held in bondage. They were compelled to pay a tribute to the houses—in eggs, or chickens or work."

"It is true—that does not hear this from the peon—that they were always fed, even when free men went hungry, and that there were always roofs over their heads, and far better roofs than their free friends owned. But they turned rebel against their masters when they had the chance."

"Some of the land was distributed among the peons and many songs of liberty were sung."

Money For the Printing

"When the Bolsheviks were in control they played precisely the same sort of hob with the financial system that most of the other leaders have played since Diaz fell. It seemed so easy to get money merely by printing it. It was a popular tenet that white folks and bankers were alike enemies of Mexico."

"Between the revolutionists and the bandits and a few neighbors, almost all the live stock in the state was killed or stolen."

"The patient people lived on what they could raise in their fields and on what they could trade trinkets for. One could buy superb old gold and silver ornaments magnificently worked by the artists of two centuries ago, for the price of the metal in a ragged paper currency. They attempted little else. What was the use of raising food for some one else to steal? That is still a living question in Mexico. The banks closed their doors."

Back to Barter

"For months Tepic and Nayarit lived by a system of barter. Property values went down almost to nothing. The taxes were due and payable just as if the owners had been prosperous."

"When the owners could not pay, the state offered the properties for sale—for cash. There being almost no cash in the country, the properties did not sell. Then they were offered at successive reductions, until the prices became absurd. These set the values for all the rest."

"Romanticists complain that with the coming of the railroad Tepic will be spoiled. Personally, I like my cities somewhat spoiled. I am more used to them that way."

REMEDY FOR CANCER

Cherrydale, Va., Jan. 23.

Enclosed is a receipt for cancer cure which I got from last Sunday's Washington Star. Will you please to print it, as it may do some afflicted person good.

C. M. Hayden.

"Editor of the Star: The following, quoted from the Evening Star of July 23, 1853, may be of interest to the present Evening Star, in behalf of the medical fraternity: Remedy for Cancer—Col. Usery of the parish of De Soto informs the editor of the Caddo Gazette that he fully tested a remedy for this troublesome disease, recommended to him by a Spanish woman, a native of the country. The remedy is this: Take an egg and break it, pour out the white, retaining the yolk in the shell; put in the salt and mix with yolk as long as it will receive it; stir them together until the saline is formed; put a portion of this on a piece of sticking plaster, and apply it to the cancer about twice a day. He has tried the remedy twice in his own family with complete success."

In Social Circles

In addition to personal notes recording departures and arrivals, the department especially desires information of social happenings, parties, musicals, etc. Notes sent by mail or telephone will be gladly received.

Each member of Lady Knox Chapter is entitled to invite two guests for Regent's afternoon at the Copper Kettle. The program will begin at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Howard Crockett was the guest Thursday at the home of her uncle, Manfred Philbrook, Bay View square.

Mrs. Charles Schofield and son Arthur have returned from an extended stay at Vinalhaven, accompanied by Mrs. Schofield's mother, Mrs. A. U. Patterson.

The postponed meeting of the Shakespeare Society was held Monday evening with Miss Jameson. Act 1 of "Comedy of Errors" was read, Miss Josephine Thordike leading. Papers were presented by Mrs. George Wooster on the "Story of the Play" and by Mrs. John Frost on "Ephesus and the Ephesian Law." The next meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 4 at 7.30 p. m. with Mrs. W. S. Rounds. 35 Beech street instead of with Mrs. Wasgatt as the program states.

Mrs. C. F. Snow is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. W. Dunn in Lynn, Mass. for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Fuller of Talbot avenue entertained a few friends at dinner Thursday evening, in recognition of the birthday of Mrs. W. O. Fuller which fell on Wednesday and the birthday of Mrs. Frank W. Fuller which fell on Thursday. The evening's diversion was Mah Jong.

Miss Ada Perry is having a fortnight's vacation from the W. O. Hewett Co.'s store, at the close of which she will go to the New York millinery markets.

Miss Eva Rogers was having supper with Mrs. Carrie Douglas at her home on Warren street Wednesday, and had a pleasant, industrious evening planned. But Miss Rogers' plans were rather upset by a telephone message from her mother saying she had a caller at her home, someone she hadn't seen for many days. Miss Rogers hurried home and much to her surprise found a gathering of about 30 friends, the purpose of the happy gathering being a utility shower. Many useful and attractive gifts were presented Miss Rogers, and the evening passed happily and too quickly.

Mrs. Abbie Healey of North Main street has returned from a several weeks' visit with Mrs. C. H. Loomis in Beverly Hills, Calif. "The California sun is beautiful," says Mrs. Healey, "but no more so than that of Maine and somehow I much prefer the Maine climate."

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Staples of North Haven were in the city yesterday en route for Suffield, Conn., where they will visit their son Leon before going to Lyndhurst, N. J., for a visit with another son, Scott Staples. Spring will have come before their return to North Haven.

The Miriam Sewing Circle will meet at Odd Fellows hall Tuesday afternoon for tacking. All members are asked to be present.

Edwin Libby Relief Corps was the scene of a great deal of merriment and activity Thursday evening, when after the regular work, the members, under the direction of the patriotic instructor, undertook to present "Little Red Riding Hood." Perhaps one of the most realistic features was the bee alighting on a rose, but the frog and others were done in excellent style, too. The Corps voted to join with the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary and Daughters of Veterans, in forming a corporation. Altogether it was a meeting full of enthusiasm and spirit.

Miss Pauline McLoon is home from Wheaton for the weekend, a guest of Miss Lucy Fuller.

Miss Bernice Tibbetts, who has been the guest of her father, Herman Tibbetts, Grace street, has returned to Augusta.

The L. P. Club met with Mrs. Ralph Trim Friday afternoon. Next Tuesday it meets with Mrs. George W. Bacheider and a 10 o'clock luncheon will be served.

A. Ross Weeks suffered a severe attack of acute indigestion one day this week, and is at present at the home of his brother, Frank L. Weeks, Highland street.

George Adams is home from Bowdoin, having passed with great success the midyear exams.

Mrs. Warren Gardner attended the State Lecturer's convention in Augusta Tuesday and Wednesday and reports a very large delegation, much interest and a highly interesting lecture by Governor Baxter on "Water Powers."

Miss Annie Rankin of the Fuller-Cobb-Davis force is at home from a visit in Massachusetts.

Capt. James O. Chadwick and Leon W. Chadwick of Cushing are guests at Silas A. Morton's.

The E. F. A. Club met this week with Mrs. G. T. Wade, the favors being won by Mrs. Mary Larrabee, Mrs. Annie Collamore, Miss Phronie Johnson and Mrs. Grace Rollins. Mrs. Hattie Davies was forced to be content with the consolation. The Club meets Feb. 8 with Mrs. Lizzie French.

Mrs. Horace E. Lamb leaves Tuesday for Miami, Fla., where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Munsey. She will come north with Mrs. Munsey in the spring.

News was received today of the illness of Rev. George McCrea at the Wesley Hospital, Chicago, where he is to undergo an operation. Mrs. McCrea is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Henry R. Huntley, and sister of Mrs. Eliza Plummer, of this city.

IN THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Week days—9 a. m. to 9 p. m.
Sundays—2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

"The Douglass Fairbankth in?" asked a Rockland youngster, peering over the edge of the desk in the children's room. "Why, er-r—just what book do you mean?" asked the children's librarian. "I mean the book of Douglass Fairbankth! You've got it, cauth the library woman told jolk from it last story hour and she thaid it wath here!" With the mention of the story hour the librarian began to understand and she came back from the shelves with a much worn copy of Howard Pyle's "Merry Adventures of Robin Hood." "Is this the book you mean?" she asked the youngster. "Courth!" was the instant reply and soon a happy youngster could be seen cutting across the lawn with the grim-soiled copy of "Douglass Fairbankth" under his arm.

Many calls have come to the library the last week for the books recently listed by John Clair Minot as the 25 leading books of fiction for the year. The following books from his list may be obtained at the library. The others have long been on the waiting list. These books enjoy almost constant circulation and it is suggested that prospective readers have a copy reserved for them. This may be done by telephone or in person.

"The Hawk-eye," Herbert Quick. The best American historical novel of the year and one of the finest among new American novels of this kind.

"Fortune's Fool," Rafael Sabatini, the most delightful historical romance of the year.

"Bread," Charles Norris, the novel best calculated to stir violent differences of opinion.

"The Alaskan," Oliver Curwood, the best wilderness story of the year.

"North of 36," Emerson Hough, the best western story of the year.

"Extremity to the Evidence," J. S. Fletcher, the best mystery story of the year.

"His Children's Children," Arthur Train, the best novel of the year to climb well to the top of the list of best sellers.

"Enchanted April," by Elizabeth, the best light novel of the year.

"Stella Dallas," Oliver H. Prouty, the best novel of the year by a Greater Boston author.

The following stories may be obtained in magazine form: "Son at the Front," Edith Wharton, Scribner's Magazine, Jan.-Sept., 1923, the best novel of the year from the pen of an American author.

"The Dark Frigate," Charles B. Hawes, the best sea story of the year.

Books from Mr. Minot's list of the best non-fiction of the year will be listed in this column next Saturday.

Kate Douglas Wiggin's "Garden of Memories" has been so much in demand from the regular collection that a second copy has been purchased for the rental collection. This goes out on the basis of three cents a day or 15 cents a week, and may be reserved.

The most popular non-fiction book of the year has been Mrs. Emily Post's "Etiquette." Hardly ever can the library copy be found on the shelves, for there have been from five to ten reserve cards for the book constantly since the reserve card system was installed. The copy in the rental collection has been in constant circulation. Following close in the demand for this particular book has been a book of a widely different subject, "Papini's Life of Christ," which also has been duplicated in the rental collection and has had constant circulation for over a year.

Yesterday's meeting of the Rubinstein Club was marked by novel features illustrating Mrs. Bird's pleasing paper, entitled, "Once Upon a Time," and resulting in a happily varied program of generous length. Selections were as follows:

Mezzo—"The Pines of Pan," Elgar
Mrs. Bicknell
Cornet—"Three Star Polka," Bagley
Mrs. Hodgman
Soprano—"Ho! Mr. Piper," Curran
Miss Cross
Old Song—"The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls,"
Mrs. Bicknell
Contralto—"I Am Thy Harp," Woodman
Mrs. Storck
Piano—"Sundown," Helen Hopckirk
Miss Singhi
Two pianos—"Egyptian Ballet," Luigial
Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Averill
Violin—"Robin Adair," air varie May
Miss Luce
Soprano—"The Nightingale's Song," Nevin
Mrs. Nutt
Soprano—"Nightingale of June," Sanderson
Miss Brown
Contralto—"From the Land of the Sky-blue Water," Cadman
Mrs. Storck
Soprano—"Ghost-pipe," Lieurance
Mrs. Nutt
Accompanists: Medaunt Berry, Averill, Luce; Misses Hayden, Thomas and Singhi

KENT'S HILL CENTENARY

Seminary 100 Years Old Feb. 27, But Celebration at Commencement Time.

Kent's Hill Seminary will be 100 years old Feb. 27.

The centennial will be observed with suitable exercises, but not until commencement in June, and at a meeting of the board of trustees, in the office of Henry E. Dunnack, State Librarian, on Monday, a tentative program was outlined. June 14 and 15 of commencement week, will be devoted to this part of the program, and several guests will be invited, including Gov. Baxter, Dr. A. O. Thomas of the State department of education, the presidents of the four colleges in Maine, and Bishop P. H. Hughes of Boston.

In observance of the centennial, Rev. Henry E. Dunnack will address the students on Feb. 27.

Kent's Hill Seminary was originally founded in Augusta by Eliza Robinson, but it was moved in 1833 to Kent's Hill, where a tract of land had been given to the school by Luther Sampson.

The Davis Garment shop, corner of Main and Elm streets, is now having a final clean-up on furs, suits, coats, dresses and a few fur coats.—adv.

VICTORY TOOK ITS PROUD PERCH

Rockland High School Wins Brilliant Basketball Battle At Newcastle—That Special Train.

Rockland High School won a clean-cut, unquestionable 21-19 victory over Lincoln Academy in the Knox & Lincoln Basketball League series at Newcastle last night, thereby vindicating herself and her able coach, Philip A. Jones, in the eyes of the athletic world. The game was fiercely contested from the first toss of the ball to the final whistle with varying fortunes of war and the monster crowd was in wildest pandemonium all the while, yet in spite of savage play it was entirely free from objectionable features. Referee Spear of Bath handled a very difficult proposition exceedingly well and was accorded ungrudging commendation by winners and losers alike.

Lincoln hall was crowded to twice its normal capacity, every available inch of space being taken even to the window sills and the tops of the two big stoves. Fully 1200 people got into the building somehow though the manner of the accomplishment is a mystery. There were 351 in the Rockland delegation alone and fully 100 of these who stopped to patronize the Hot dog stands and soda fountain enroute from the train howled their disapproval while packed a la sardine outside the closed doors while the Academy authorities were bringing order out of the chaos within, but eventually all were admitted and everybody was happy.

The girls game came first and the Newcastle sextet threw a scare into Coach Sullivan by holding Rockland scoreless for a good part of the first period, but when the Breen-Perry Griffin combination struck its stride it was only a question of getting the crosses on the score book as fast as Breen and Perry could drop the ball into the basket. The opposition was vigorous and temperamental in vain and the final score was Rockland 29, Lincoln 0.

The boys' contest opened with startling speed and the first basket made by Giles after a minute's sharp scrimmage brought forth a thunderous roar from the Lincoln cheering section which was answered ten seconds later by the Rockland supporters as Captain Snow dropped in a pretty one. Baker of Lincoln ringed the ball twice from the free throw line during the breathless silence promised by ex-editor Singer. Burns and Sidney Snow caged the ball twice each and Ludwig brought the Rockland lead up to three just as the whistle blew for the end of the first period, Rockland 8, Lincoln 5.

The second period was as fiercely contested as the first though Rockland showed a decided superiority in passing and team play. The half ended with R. H. S. on the long end of a 12-10 score and with the very walls vibrating with the battle cries being thundered across the hall. Lincoln had not held the lead since Giles' first basket though she had brought about a tie on two occasions.

The third period found the contest waged as a frenzied pace seldom equalled in amateur sport and Rockland supporters were frantic when the period ended 17-14 in favor of the orange and black. The terrific strain was beginning to tell and both teams were charging with ferocity when Referee Spear's "Cut out the charging, all of you fellows, if you want to stay on the floor. Play basketball!" was greeted with prolonged applause.

The final period was hectic. Baker drew two fine throws from the foul line in rapid succession and had the crowd delirious with excitement. Then Captain Snow came through with two of the kind of baskets Dick Merriwell used to shoot and everybody was wild. At this crucial point came a whistle blast that sounded like the crack o' doom to the Rockland cohorts, for it put the gallant Nosworthy out of the game on four personal fouls. Wendell Thornton pulled off his jersey and for the remainder of the game proved himself a chip off the old block. In another brace of minutes the final whistle sounded and Rockland High had won another famous victory.

The Way the Rockland Crowd Felt After the Victory

Too much praise cannot be given the Snow boys. Their work was consistent and real basketball every minute. Nosworthy played his usual hard, swift game at center and fed some fine chances to his forwards. Greene and Ludwig did effective work as guards, Greene without a single foul being checked against him. Ludwig had a penchant for long shots and came near making several of them count. The Academy five gave their utmost and were defeated by a team that had just enough edge on them to spell victory. The summary:

Rockland High School
Goals	Fouls	Pts.
R. Snow, rf, c	3	17
S. Snow, lf	4	8
Nosworthy, c	2	0
Ludwig, rb	1	0
Greene, lb	0	0
Thornton, rf	0	0
Total	10	21

Lincoln Academy
Goals	Fouls	Pts.
Burns, lb	2	4
Hilton, rb	0	1
Giles, c	1	0
Stevens, lf	2	4
Baker, rf	1	6
Total	6	19

The score: Rockland 21, Lincoln Academy 19. Referee, Spear of Bath. Time, four 8-minute periods.

In the girls' game Breen succeeded in making 12 baskets and one foul shot. Perry caged the ball twice and made a great many what would be termed "assists" in baseball.

The crowd was pleased with the cooperation so apparent between Coach Jones and Clunie. Amicable spirit was manifest throughout the evening among all the officials.

Principal Clunie was up against it for fair in handling the monster crowd. Some 200 seats were reserved for the Rockland contingent but this was only a drop in the bucket. The final admission of all the crowd was a good stunt but if the excited people had been allowed to jam into the hall as they so vociferously wished not only would they have been less evenly distributed but it is almost a certainty that somebody would have been hurt. Much credit is due "Smilin'" Jerry Whitney who journeyed to Newcastle in the afternoon and did yeoman service in helping Mr. Clunie.

Two outstanding figures in connection with the special train are receiving the thanks of the High School students. One is A. W. McCurdy, passenger agent at the Maine Central station, who did all in his jurisdiction to make the trip the success it was. The other name is that of Submaster Phillips, who not only handled the financial end of the affair to the queen's taste but dug into his own jeans for the $250 guarantee in case the quota was not obtained.

The behavior of the boys and girls on the train and in the twin villages was exemplary and reflects a full meed of credit on the High School. To be sure they were happy and a window or two suffered on the way home, and they did give the old "Ki Yi" and tell about the high chair going home from the station, but nobody on the train was in a position to cast the first stone when it came to cheering.

"A good, clean game well played," was the verdict of that sage of Lincoln county, Recorder, ex-editor George W. Singer, as he sat on a window sill in Lincoln hall and looked quizzically over the surging crowd below.

A WORCESTER PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Gregson at 167 King Philip road, Worcester, Mass., was the scene of a very pretty party the evening of Jan. 29, the occasion being their 14th wedding anniversary. Worcester and Maine friends were present. Miss Mildred Ashe played several piano solos and Mr. Gregson favored the guests with vocal selections. Money was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Gregson. Buffet luncheon was served and a very enjoyable evening was reported. Those present were: Alice Rivers, Mrs. Agnes Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Obadiah Kallioch, Charles Kallioch, Norman Kallioch, Mildred Ashe, Mrs. Emma Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Milliken, Madeline Milliken, Elizabeth Backstrom, Mr. and Mrs. William Backstrom, Inez Hocking, Beulah Hocking.

HOUSE PLANTS

Add much to the charm of your home. During this month a Cyclamen, Primrose, Bright Colored Cineraria or even a Fern or Foliage Plant will give you much pleasure and will fill in most gracefully those dark days between the Christmas greens and the first daffodils.

We have some good Cinerarias coming on and we want to get them across to you before they are fully in bloom that you may enjoy them the longest possible time.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS

What Our Home Artists and Others Are Doing To Forward the Interests of Musical Art.

Music in the public schools today is quite a far cry from that of only a few years ago. Each year sees it becoming more advanced and more varied. Glancing through a magazine that came to my attention a few days ago I noted several items that will be of interest to readers. I feel sure, from different parts of the country pertaining to music in the schools.

Milwaukee, Wis.: Milwaukee schools have nearly 2000 boys and girls in bands and orchestras. There are 17 bands in the grade schools. The school board has begun to buy some of the more expensive instruments.

Bangor: On a recent visit of Sousa's Band to Bangor, the high school band played with the Sousa forces under the baton of the march king.

Wheeling, W. Va.: This city has adopted a normal credit basis for its school music, the board of education having granted credit for music study equal to that given any other branch of education.

Worcester, Mass.: Enjoyed a High School music festival last spring, under the direction of Arthur J. Dann. Fine orchestral work and a presentation of Bruch's "Faire Elfen" and Gade's "The El-King's Daughter" made the occasion of unusual note.

Sacramento, Cal.: Two thousand boys and girls of this city gave a program in McKinley Park, illustrating the progress of music in the public schools.

Olin Downes is no longer with the Boston Post as music critic, having severed that connection to become music critic of the New York Times. Warren Storey Smith succeeds Mr. Downes and has already taken up his new duties. Mr. Smith is a capable musician, was educated in Boston and teaches harmony at the New England Conservatory. Previous to assuming his new position he was assistant to H. T. Parker on the Boston Transcript, and his music criticisms and analysis of new works were features of the Transcript's daily music page.

Those who were so favorably impressed with the work of Armand Tokaty, tenor, in the presentation of "Faust" at the recent Maine Music Festivals, will be interested to read the following from reviews of two of his appearances at the Metropolitan.

"Owing to the sudden indisposition of Beniamino Gigli, the first performance of Meyerbeer's 'L'Africain' this season had to be postponed. Gounod's 'Romeo and Juliet' was substituted, and Armand Tokaty was afforded an opportunity to appear as 'Romeo' for the first time at the Metropolitan. He had previously sung the role with the company at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Last week Mr. Tokaty again gave a convincing demonstration of his prowess as an actor and singer. He acted gracefully and exhibited a fine grasp of the romantic possibilities of the role. Vocally he proved as persuasive and sympathetic as on previous occasions. Here is a young singer who has quickly established himself as an artist of outstanding promise. An immense audience, which was on hand to hear the Meyerbeer, work lustily applauded the tenor, and his collaborators, among whom was Luciezia Bori as 'Juliet.' Faust was selected for the popular price Saturday evening performance, and Mr. Tokaty rounded out his heavy week appearing in the title role. In this, his initial 'Faust' at the Metropolitan, he sang very beautifully, being particularly successful in the music of the Garden Scene."

An item from Musical America tells us that Jeanne C. Colcord, sister of Lincoln Colcord, the author, recently gave a talk on "Sea Chanties" before the Women of Maine Clubs at the Waldorf recently.

From a review of the Metropolitan performance of "Die Walkure" is noted that "Sigrid Onegin appeared as 'Fricka.' Mme. Onegin again demonstrated that she is one of the truly important singers of this day; a golden voice of a distinct individuality, and a charming, intelligent personality to direct her natural endowments—what more could a listener demand?"

The "Observant Citizen" in the Boston Post often has some clever little squibs, and I found one the other day that deals with music:

"Yes, We Have No Bananas" seems to be on its way to join "Tipperary" and "Bedelia" and "Sweet Murie" in the place where popular songs go after they are detroned by new favorites. "What tune are you playing most of all just now?" I asked the leader of one of Greater Boston's most popular dance orchestras. "Last Night on the Back Porch I Loved Her Best of All," he replied. "I'm not asking about your love affairs," I patiently explained. "I'm asking about the success of the banana song. 'That's it,' he retorted, 'that's the tune.' 'Last Night on the Back Porch, etc.'"

George M. Cohan, our versatile George, has decided that he will not produce any more musical shows in Boston. He has transferred his affections to London, where he will go this spring to open the new musical comedy that he originally planned to produce here. Boston theatres have been very loyal to Cohan and crowded the Tremont to capacity when "Mary," "The O'Brien Girl," "Little Nellie Kelly" and "The Rise of Rosie O'Reilly" were given their premiers in that city and run for months. Apropos, I am wondering if Mr. Cohan's stay will be longer than the popular Paul Whitehead. Mr. Whitehead said New York City did not appreciate him and straightaway took his departure for London, where he felt confident that he would open new vistas on the world of jazz. But his stay was brief. Apparently his experience there convinced him that New York was appreciative after all.

I am wondering if there are any persons in Rockland who will be fortunate enough to hear the Chicago Opera Company during their two weeks' visit in Boston. Two members of this very fine company of singers come close to us who "take in" the Maine Music Festivals—Rosa Raisa and Charles Marshall—and judging from the newspaper reviews they are both prime favorites. I am especially interested to read the reports of Mr. Marshall's success, for to many who heard him at the Maine Festivals a few years ago he was not particularly pleasing, either in manner or style of singing. It was said that his voice was too robust for a tenor, that he forced it, sang at the top of his lungs, and so on; and that his personality was anything but delightful, in that he seemed to be out of sorts, rather vain, and appeared older than his age was stated. In any event, music must have been there, for he certainly has made a decided success with the Chicago Opera Company, being re-engaged each season, and heralded not only as a fine singer, but as an actor of much talent. That is true of many singers, we find. A success on the operatic stage does not always indicate success as a concert artist, and vice versa.

But our glorious Rosa Raisa seems to be a success everywhere. Who could ever forget her year she appeared at the Maine Festivals? Such a gorgeous looking creature, with her fine figure, ardent eyes, and her stately graceful manner. There seems to be nothing in reviews of her appearances, either in concert or opera, to disparage. She appears to be treading a rosy path of success. Mme. Raisa had the pleasure of meeting in Boston a former pupil of their days back in Russia—Bertha Levine, now of Boston. The two made a joyous reunion of their meeting at the Copley Plaza and reminisced over Russian tea.

Just before Mme. Raisa left Chicago, she made her season's farewell appearance in that city in Il Trovatore. This performance came on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 16, and frequently she was seen to smile at four boxes full of wide-eyed youngsters who beamed back in pleased embarrassment. The children, 27 in all, from the Kosciuszko School, were the joint guests of Mme. Raisa and the Red, White and Blue Club. After the performance each child was introduced to the singer and the mysteries of back stage.

THE GASOLINE BOOST

Gov. Baxter Says That a Protest Should Go To Washington.

Telegrams have been coming into Gov. Baxter's office protesting against the increase in the price of gasoline and the matter is being looked into by the attorney general's department. Gov. Baxter said regarding these protests:

"I regret that the price of gasoline has been advanced but in so far as I am aware the State of Maine has no jurisdiction over gasoline producing companies. The federal government and the government of the states in which the gasoline is produced are the only authorities that can handle the situation."

"Maine has no power to summon to a hearing the officials of the great oil companies outside the State, or to force them to bring their books into Maine. They are entirely beyond our jurisdiction. The agents within our State take the gasoline and distribute it, but nothing would be accomplished by calling the local agents before the court, or legislature, as they do not have the power to fix the price and probably know as little about it as the ordinary citizen."

"I do not believe in giving our people false ideas or encouraging them to think that the State can do anything to lower the price of gasoline. Sometimes in these matters those who seek public office make a 'spurge' and lead people to think that they can do something, whereas in their hearts these office seekers know otherwise. I do not for a moment think the State of Maine can do any more to lower the price of gasoline than it can to lower the price of steel, and our people may as well face the facts, although it is disagreeable to do so."

"Some of the telegrams coming to my office ask that the matter be investigated by the legislature. This would mean calling a special session, costing a large sum of money, and would really not accomplish anything. A governor might do this to satisfy public sentiment but it would be a political move and a 'flash in the pan.' If anything can be done it must come through Congress and if the telegrams now pouring into my office were sent to Washington instead of Augusta something might come of it, although even in that case the public is almost helpless. Some day the great natural resources of coal, oil and water power will no longer be explained by monopolies regardless of the rights and interests of the people. There is no one in Maine who feels more strongly about the injustice that is being done our citizens by the exorbitant prices of coal and gas than does the governor and I am in accord with the protest of everyone who has sent me a telegram, of which several hundred have come to me."

CONNECTICUT MAINE CLUB

Sons and Daughters of Pine Tree State Organize in Norwich.

The Norwich Bulletin of Jan. 28 tells of the meeting in that city of former Maine people, among the number Mrs. Carl W. Brown, who was Miss Mary Norton of Rockland. The Bulletin story, which contained other names that doubtless are well known to Courier-Gazette readers, follows:

Sons and daughters of the State of Maine, with their wives or husbands in all numbering 30, arrived for the Maine banquet held Friday evening in the private dining hall at the Waukegan Hotel, and enjoyed the stories of the old home state.

A remarkable thing about the meeting was that the gathering represented towns and cities from nearly every section of the state, and no two present were natives of the same place.

The meeting opened about 7 o'clock with a delightful banquet was served in Room No. 8 which had been prettily decorated in honor of the occasion, the color scheme being pink, white and green. Table decorations consisted of baskets of flowers and miniature pine trees, to add a homelike aspect.

S. Hussey Reed who had arranged for the banquet acted as toastmaster for the evening and suggested the plan of each son and daughter of Maine telling where they were born and something about the old days in their home city. This method of entertainment proved a great success and considerable amusement was derived from the stories of those present.

Several songs were enjoyed after which Mr. Reed was appointed to make arrangements to draw up a constitution for an organization to be known as the State of Maine Club of Eastern Connecticut, open to every son and daughter of Maine, or those eligible to membership through marriage or adoption. A meeting will be held at some future date to form the club with permanent by-laws.

Preceding the banquet the guests were welcomed by the reception committee comprising Mr. and Mrs. S. Hussey Reed and Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Brown. After the banquet a social time was enjoyed in the Waukegan parlors, everyone having a chance to get acquainted.

Those attending the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. S. Hussey Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Lorin B. Sampson, A. H. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. J. Nelson Weymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Thompson, Mrs.

PARK THEATRE

The final showings of the George Melford Paramount production of "Flaming Barriers," which opened at the Park Theatre on Friday last, will take place there this afternoon and evening. Jacqueline Logan, Antonio Moreno and Walter Hiers are the featured players, and have scored heavily at every showing. "Flaming Barriers" is an original screen story by Byron Morgan, a comedy-drama and it is a devised novelty. On the same program there is Al St. John in his latest comedy entitled "Not Recommended," also a review which completes an excellent program for today.

A famous stage play, Walter Backus' "Captain Applejack," filmed under the title of "Strangers of the Sea" to Mr. Melford, is shown on Monday and Tuesday. It has been produced by Fred Niblo, who directed "The Three Musketeers," "Blood and Sand" and "The Famous Mrs. Fair," and is presented by Louis B. Mayer through Metro. Niblo was given free rein to build magnificent settings and the cast is made up exclusively of players entitled to be classed as stars. Matt Moore, Eddi Bennett, Barbara La Marr and Robert McKim have the four principal roles while such favorites as Emily Fitzroy, Otto Hoffman, Mathilde Brundage and Thomas Ricketts share honors in the secondary group of popular players. The story concerns a third Britisher into whose life comes a girl, the daughter of a pirate, Bess Meredith adapted the story to the screen and it was photographed by Alvin Wyckoff, adv.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Charles Jones' thrilling new William Fox feature, "Hell's Hole" will be shown tonight for the last time at the Empire Theatre. If "Hell's Hole" is not the best picture of the year, it is a very close second. "Hell's Hole" is a story of love and romance, don't fail to go to the Empire Theatre to see it. In addition to Jones, who has one of the best of his career, there appear in his support, Ruth Clifford, leading lady, Maurice Flynn, heavy; Kathleen Key, Hardy Kirkland, and Eugene Pallette, Emmet J. Flynn directed the picture. In addition to the feature, William Duncan and Edith Johnson. There is also a comedy.

STRAND THEATRE

Earle Williams is starring today in "Bring Him In." The story deals with the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police and shows the star as the hunted man. The beautiful scenery around Lake Tahoe in Northern California, furnishes the atmosphere that makes the story stand out sharp and vivid. The role assumed by Williams is exceptionally dramatic and the story is one of mystery, love and adventure which will satisfy the interest of this remarkable, thrilling, out-of-doors narrative.

The companion feature today is entitled "One Night in Paris." The five reels of this comedy drama are as brimful of pep and punch as any picture of the kind ever shown in the fascinating French capital. The plot concerns the romantic adventures of one Jacques Fromont, a bachelor about town.

Maria Davies will have a role entirely different from anything in which she has heretofore appeared and one especially suited to her appealing personality when she appears as Patricia O'Day in "Little Old New York" Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The singular, mischievous traits of Princess Mary Tudor, played by Miss Davies in "When Knighthood Was in Fashion," are found in little Patricia O'Day. There is also a quality of wild pathos which shows a new side of Miss Davies' dramatic ability. Miss Davies appears most of the time as a young boy, having done this disguise in order to inherit a fortune. One of the most dramatic scenes in the picture and one which gives Miss Davies a wonderful opportunity for expressing emotion is on shipboard when Patricia's brother is buried at sea. The star spent several days and nights on the ocean in an old-fashioned schooner while these scenes were being made. Those who saw her as Princess Mary Tudor will recall the poignant appeal made by her helpless grief when she thought Charles Brandon was the shipwrecked prince. The ship scene in "Little Old New York," where little Patricia sees the body of her beloved brother lowered over the side of the ship into the heaving ocean rivals it in emotional depths.

"Little Old New York" was adapted to the screen by Luther Reed from the stage play by Rida Johnson Young, which had a most successful run on Broadway. Joseph Urban designed the settings which recreate the quaint charm of New York as it was a century ago. Sidney Olcott directed the picture. A cast which even surpasses that of "When Knighthood Was in Fashion" in which Miss Davies scored such a tremendous success, adds lustre to "Little Old New York." One set, which was made in the Twenty-third Regiment armory in Brooklyn because no studio was large enough, is the largest set ever filmed in motion pictures and covered 600 square feet of floor space—adv.

You have a chance to get new industries? Why?

SUPPOSE a 500-man industry wanted to move to your town—and the Chamber of Commerce had to tell them, "We can't supply you with power?"

It would cost you money, wouldn't it; cost money to every business man, every property owner, every tax payer.

You personally, would be the loser, you would get less business, less for your tax money, less prosperity.

Since this is true, why not protect your own interests by placing some of your investment money in securities of the Company that is financing the development of power available in your own town?

Central Maine Power Company is now developing 14,500 additional horsepower to take care of the increased demand of Maine homes and industries in its territory.

BATTLE AGAINST RUM

The Greatest Conflict This Country Ever Saw Is Now Entered Upon.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

I understand that Samuel Gompers favors the use of light drinks. There are two ways of fighting the devil. One is to meet him face to face, and if you are strong knock him down and jump on him. But if you are weak he will knock you down and trample you under his cloven feet. The other way is that adopted by Jesus when he said, "Get behind me, Satan—get out of my sight with your hideous horns and cloven feet."

With free wine and beer, the devil's kindling wood, the people would meet Satan face to face and the strong would stand, but the weak would fall and be trampled under cloven feet. Under prohibition, with the law properly executed, Satan would be kept where he could not trample on the weak.

When the American Colonies were under the rule of Great Britain and the patriots were battling for freedom, Patrick Henry said, "I know not what course others would take, but for my own part, give me liberty or give me death."

For one, I would rather be under British rule than to be held in bondage by King Alcohol. Many years ago, while a temperance wave was sweeping over this State, I attended a temperance meeting at Union. On my way I met an old fellow and told him that he ought to attend the meeting. He replied:

"Charlie, I don't want you to tell me what I ought to do. I have drunk rum ever since I was a boy, and for me to deprive myself of rum in my old age would be damned cruel!"

The poor old man was a slave to King Alcohol, the most deplorable slave in the world.

The greatest battle ever fought in this country is now on. On the one side behold King Alcohol, supported by all the demons of Hades let loose. On the other side behold the Goddess of Temperance and Universal Liberty, supported by religion and our ablest and best statesmen.

It took eight long years to drive the British lion from our land. How long will it take to drive out Humanity's greatest enemy? Much depends on the support the people give to those who execute the law. To get the best results, prohibition should be supplemented by an ethical movement having for its aim the development of a high type of manhood and womanhood. There is enough temperance, virtue and religion in the hearts of the people, if rightly directed, to drive out all the black demons of intemperance and impurity, in less time than it took to drive out the red-coats.
